Holland Station Should Have Motor Life Boat.

The motor lifeboat is the latest and most successful type of motor craft, and its success has been proven without a doubt in the face of much opposition and under most trying conditions. When, three months ago, the first motor lifeboat was installed at the station at the mouth of the Chicago river, the experiment was regarded with some suspicion by veteran surfmen, for they had come to believe that nothing could surpass in efficiency the old-time self-baling, self-righting lifeboat, practically unsinkable, whose motive power was furnished by the long sweeps in the hands of the trained crew, or by sail power when the wind permitted.

But since the time when the first chug-chug of the gasoline motor in the lifeboat was heard, thirty-two men have been rescued, the boat has been found to be swifter and more easily handled than the old type, and another two years will see every first-class life saving station on the great lakes equipped with the new device. Chicago has set the pace for the new era in the history of the lifesaving service, for it is probable that all the stations on the sea coast will eventually adopt the motor boat.

Inspector J. G. Ballinger of the Lake Michigan lifesaving district, in his next recommendation to the department, will devote considerable space to the motor lifeboat, and will urge that every 34-foot lifeboat in his district be equipped with a motor.

It is likely that the Plum island station at the entrance of Green bay, Beaver island station and the station at South Manitou will have the motor boats installed this year, as they are at points on the lake where the crews have frequently to make long trips after vessels in distress, and their efficiency will be doubled with the motor boat.

The events of last week show that a motor life boat is needed at Holland harbor and moves should be made to obtain one.

For the coming holidays you can find a suitable present for any one at the 5 and 10 cents Store 65 East Eighth street. Toys, china, glassware, fancy articles of every description. We invite comparison of goods and prices.

Circuit Court.

Marlie Faber of Vriesland was sentenced to hard labor at Ionia prison for a term of not less than one year nor more than five years with a recommendation that the term of sentence be one year. Faber pleaded guilty in court to stealing $110 from the residence of Jacob De Groot in Vriesland in October. The prisoner was landed on a John Doe warrant, that is a warrant naming no one in particular, by Officer Salisbury about a week ago. He was brought to jail here and last Sunday made a full confession to the officers. Faber was arrested once before for stealing turkeys and this reputation did not help him any in avoiding suspicion.

The jury in the damage case of Netiva Consinean against the Muskegon Traction company was taken to Muskegon Friday morning to view the exact conditions at Lake Michigan Park where the plaintiff was hurt, July 4, 1904.

Meanwhile in court W. I. Lillie attorney for the defendant company argued to take the case from the jury. The argument was opposed by James E. Sullivan attorney for the plaintiff.

The jury in the traction case was called in at 3:30 Saturday afternoon after six hours in the jury room announced individually to the court the impossibility of reaching a verdict. The question as to the liability caused the tie up and the jury stood 11 to 1 in favor of the plaintiff. The jury was discharged and court adjourned.

Holland May Have New Plant.

There is a move on foot to have the plant of the Valley City Gas Engine & Launch Wks. come from Grand Rapids to this city. The company, of which Herman Garvelink, well known here, is manager will come here provided that a stock company can be formed here to carry on the business.

Jacob Lokker and Capt. Austin Harrington have canvassed a number of the business men and have received a number of assurances that substantial blocks of stock would be taken.

Individuals who wish to invest either through a desire to obtain profit or to help the city's growth should call on Messrs. Lokker or Harrington. If a concerted effort is made Holland will soon have a new industry.

The company constructs launched engines.

John Vandersluis has bought an agent's entire line of Handkerchiefs cheap and will place the entire lot on sale at 10c, 15c and 25c each. This is a good time to buy Xmas, Handkerchiefs. See his window display at 15c each.

H. Ten Broeke has the contract for building a new house for Attorney Kooyers on College avenue.

Joseph Wierstra has bought out the bakery business of D. Aldershof. Mr. Aldershof has conducted this line for fourteen years.

Ray Lightbairt is having a house built on West Thirteenth street. F. O. Pratt is the contractor.

Deputy Collector of Customs Dana Ten Cate has been notified officially that his office closes November 30, Navigation closes on that date.

Mrs. Resigee has returned from Ganges where she attended the funeral of her granddaughter, Mary Van Dyne.

While jumping on a rig the other day Cornelius Top sustained a severe fracture of his leg near the thigh. The boy lives at 241 East Eleventh street. Dr. F. Yonker attended the lad and he is doing nicely.

A second complaint has been lodged against Mrs. Josephine De Young of Jenison for alleged cruelty to her 3 year-old stepson. The woman was arrested several weeks ago, but was released because of an error in the papers. She is now in jail at Grand Haven.

Capt. Austin Harrington, Gene Fairbanks and George S. Harrington arrived from the hunting grounds of the north last Thursday night, having to their credit five slaughtered deer. Ross Cooper joined the Fellows camp in the hope of obtaining his second deer. He returned this week.

Just because the steamer Puritan took a notion to allow the storm of last week to force her into the mud bottom east of the boat dock, the tug Bonita had to steam here from Benton Harbor and divorce the big steamer from the mudheap. The Puritan was not damaged.

Even the envoy Van Swinderen had a taste of Michigan's fall storms. While on their trip from Holland to Zeeland last week the ambassador and his party who were on an east bound interurban car were passing the Zeeland brick yards when the storm began, boards from the brick sheds flew in all directions, one of them striking the high tension wire of the electric line, breaking it. Naturally the car was put out of commission and the notables were compelled to hoof it to Zeeland.

Frank Wyner has been selected as assistant business manager of The Anchor by the staff and the price of the college paper has been raised from 50 cents to 75 cents for students and $1.00 for alumni and others interested in Hope College. Enough can not be said to urge every one interested in Hope and its students to help contribute to the support of the college organ. Every student should subscribe for it and certainly every alumni should have pride enough in his college to afford this small sum. The boys need the money to run good numbers, and it certainly can not be done on wind.

The Saugatuck Commercial-Record has this about our own Fred, the Fred Wade that formerly made the Holland City News famous: "A number of the students from the High School held a surprise party at the home of Chas. Redebaugh Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Louise Lundgren. The time was pleasantly spent with games and music. A fine supper was served during the evening by the girls to the dance at the Village Hall in Douglas. Mr. Wade says he has not been to a dance in several years, but the graceful way in which he danced the two-step and cut the pigeon wing proved that he had not forgotten the art and was just as young and chipper as any of the boys." Fred, do you love your teacher?

The Harkema-Looman case will be carried up to the circuit court, Mrs. Harkema having appealed the case.

Mrs. E. R. Allen and daughter Hazel went to Holland last Saturday to visit friends, and were in Grand Rapids a few days this week.—Allegan Press.

Twelve partridges were bagged by Peter Dulyea and Wm. Thomas while hunting at Middleville.

Our city treasurer is compelled to remain in his office from 8:30 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. during tax collection time.

Peter Oosting's place in fire company No. 1 has been filled by Raymond Knoll.

About two hundred guests attended the dance given by the Royal Neighbors of America at Woodmen hall last Friday evening. Mrs. Geo. Williams received the quilt that was given away.

Charles Orther of Fennville loaded 228 cars with fruit at that station the past season, of which 112 were sent to the Chicago market by the Fennville Fruit Shipping association.

Miss Mary Lubbers of East Saugatuck has been appointed a notary public and has filed her bond with the county clerk.

It is very likely that Eighth street will soon have paving from River to foot of Eighth street west. Improvements on Seventh street to Mill street are also contemplated and these two propositions are now being gone over by the committee on streets.

Wm. Damson of this city sailed yesterday from Seattle, Wash., for Manila. He intends making a trip around the world, working his way. He expects the trip will take about three years.

The stone barge Helen C. Taylor, reported lost in the great storm, has arrived safely at Grand Haven. She left Holland Wednesday afternoon bound for Pentwater. She was in charge of Captain Mike Plutchie and carried a crew of six men.

Upon leaving here Jhr. R. de Marees Van Swinderen expressed his great gratification upon the courtesies and hospitalities extended him. He delegated Dr. Kollen to express to all his sincere thanks.

If he had never done anything of note before, Capt. John Stewart in bringing the steamer Frontenac in out of the gale Wednesday night earned the endearing name his friends bestowed upon him years ago, "Old Split the Wind." Few storms have been worse than that which Capt. Stewart and his crew fought with. . . . The condition of Capt. W. A. Boswell is not so bad as was at first feared. He is much improved today. His trouble seems to be an attack of gastritis, rather than kidney trouble and the captain will soon be able to be out.—Benton Harbor News Palladium.

Mrs. Wright Kamhout of Grand Haven reported to the sheriff's office Saturday that a pocket book was stolen from her home on Columbus street some time during the forenoon. The pocket book contained $100 and was lying on a table in a room in the front part of the house. —Mrs. Kamhout was in the rear of the building at the time, and when she returned she discovered the loss. A couple of umbrella menders were in the neighborhood during the forenoon and suspicion of course rested on them. These men were found by officer Salisbury and taken to jail where they were thoroughly searched. No trace of the missing pocket book or money was found upon them, however, and they were released.

It looks now as though the wild goose men were going to win in the controversy which has arisen from the capture of the wild bird on the beach last Wednesday. Expert hunters insist that it is a wild goose while others are determined that it is a swan. Both parties give the reasons and proofs of their belief but it looks now as though the goose men had the best of the argument. Leo Lillie, who captured one of the birds alive Wednesday, still has it in captivity. At first it was very gentle but now it is getting ugly and cross, and if any one goes near to it, it will display its anger and it's disapproval of being confined now to such a small prison, when only a few days ago it had the sky at its disposal.—G. H. Tribune.

Why do You Wear A Hat?

Easily answered, isn't it? It keeps your head warm. It protects you against colds. It is not only a necessity but a good investment. Did you ever stop to think the same way about a Chamois Vest?

A Chamois Vest

is like a suit of good underwear. It retains the natural heat of the body. If you retain the natural heat of the body you cannot take cold. It pays to keep warm. The teamster, the carpenter, the railroad man—in fact, every man whose work calls him out of doors, should wear a Chamois Vest. The woman who feels the cold easily, the convalescent who needs protection, should wear a Chamois Vest.

Every Magazine is full of Chamois Vests at $3.00. Perhaps they are worth the money—we don't know. But we offer the "Lakeside", made from the best selected chamois, lined with the finest grade of heavy flannel, knitted at the sides to insure a perfect fit, as good a vest as money and skill can make at

In the September scoring test in butter and cheese, for creameries for Allegan county, the Fillmore creamery scored 94.5, the Overisel creamery 93.5, and the Pearl creamery 93, for whole milk butter. For whole milk and gathered cream, Charles Kemmer of Allegan scored 94. In the October contest the Dorr creamery stood 97, the Fillmore creamery the same, the Daisy creamery of Graafschap 93, and the Pearl creamery 94. M. W. Hicks of Hopkins scored 93 on cheese.

The drowning accident at Holland in which Thos. J. Bennett and Alvin H. Nelson lost their lives, resulted in the Muskegon high school football team breaking practice today. No further efforts will be made to schedule games as the families of both the victims of the storm are represented on the team. Mr. Bennett is the father of Bert Bennett, who played right tackle, and Mr. Nelson was a brother of C. Lester Nelson, center. Out of respect to them the school authorities decided that the team should disband today.—Muskegon Chronicle.

The Northern Michigan Transportation Co. has purchased the steel steamer Argo of the underwriters for $50,000. It will be remembered that the Argo formerly belonged to the Graham & Morton line and was beached at Holland last fall. The loss nearly equaled the insurance which amounted to $90,000, hence the boat was turned over to the insurance companies. The steamer Argo was sold at Cleveland under order of a U. S. court on attachment proceedings brought against the underwriters by Graham & Morton. However, although the Argo has been purchased by the Northern Michigan line, the underwriters have not yet given possession, owing to the fact that some of the companies holding risks on the boat have not paid their pro rata of the loss. But this matter will be straightened out in the end.

CORRESPONDENCE

Zeeland.

The combination planing mill and saw mill which Mr. Moeke is erecting on his property on Washington street is fast nearing completion. The factory proper is a spacious structure of 50x64 feet and is very well lighted. The floor is entirely of cement and all will be neatly arranged so as to facilitate labor. The mill shed, where will be the machinery of the saw mill proper, is also very large and roomy. It is about 80 feet long and 26 feet wide, offering all the room needed to carry on the work. The plant is equipped with two boilers and two engines and will be running in the near future. It is also said that Mr. Moeke has purchased some eight new lots in the newly opened addition and that he intends to build on them, thus evidently intending to help spread out the west end.

The new residence erected by Contractor Ver Hey on Centennial street, for J. Waltman, is now nearly ready for occupation, and Mr. Waltman expects to move into his new home in the near future. The residence to be vacated by Mr. Waltman is situated on the corner of Main and Centennial streets and will immediately be occupied by D. R. Boonstra.

The Timmer Bros. have finished excavating the basements for four new residences and already have the foundations well under way. Two of these houses are being built for Mr. Moeke, while the other two are to belong to the Timmer Bros. themselves. All four houses are being erected on the large vacant lot on Washington street, opposite the Star Furniture Co.'s property. This still leaves two building lots vacant on the property.

The skimming station owned by the Zeeland Cheese Co. is drawing heavily from the Creameries. They are getting milk from two routes that formerly went to Hudsonville and we learn that one more route intends to go to the station after December 1. There is considerable difference between 31 cents a pound paid by the cheese company and 24 cents by the creamery company.

Nobody Spared.

Kidney Troubles Attack Holland Men and Women, Old and Young Alike.

Kidney ills seize young and old alike. Quickly come and little warning give. Children suffer in their early years. Can't control the kidney secretions. Girls are languid, nervous, suffer pain. Women worry, can't do daily work. Robust men have lame and aching backs. Old folks, weak, rheumatic, lame. Endure distressing urinary ills. The cure for man, for woman or for child is to cure the cause—the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys. Holland testimony guarantees every box.

Mrs. B. Volmarei, formerly of Holland, now living at Hamilton, Mich., says: "My kidneys bothered me for years until the dull aching pains through my loins became almost constant. I easily tired and became stiff if sitting or lying in one position for any length of time and I rose in the morning feeling thoroughly unrested and devoid of energy. Often I could hardly stand up straight and I walked about in a stooped position. There was also a stiffness and numbness in my limbs. I had seen Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended and I got a box at J. O. Doesburg's drug store and commenced their use. The result was most gratifying and in spite of my advanced age, I soon began to feel better. Aside from the natural stiffness of the joints in a person of my age, I feel splendid."

Made Happy for Life.

Great happiness came into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent, at St. Albans, W. Va., when his little daughter was restored from the dreadful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus' Dance, which yielded to no treatment but grew steadily worse until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters; and I rejoice to say, three bottles effected a complete cure." Quick, sure cure for nervous complaints, general debility, female weaknesses, impoverished blood and malaria. Guaranteed by the Walsh Drug Co. Price 50c.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers rely on Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Takes the sting out of cuts, burns or bruises at once. Pain cannot stay where it is used.

Saugatuck.

John Sailor is putting an addition 10x32 on the end of one of his barns. This will be used for his stock and the other part for a bay.

Capt. Rogers has been busy on his new boat. He has the keel laid and the frames are already sawed out so that in a few days one will be able to see her form. She will be 65 feet long and 14 foot beam and as published before will be equipped with the engine of the tug Pup. She will be used as a tug and will probably be used to carry passengers in the resort season and possibly to fish with at times.

Popularity of Sugar Beets.

According to the reports from the different beet sugar factories compiled by the Secretary of Agriculture this year's acreage planted with sugar beets was the largest in the history of the industry in the country. The acreage in Michigan is 97,780 acres, while the tonnage is estimated at about ten tons per acre, making a total yield of the crop 977,800 tons. This is an increase of about 25 per cent over last year's crop. The outlook for next year is exceptionally bright. The increase in acreage will be as much or more than last year's increase. The sugar factories have made no reduction in the price of beets for the next season, although the price of sugar has gradually dropped and only recently another reduction in the price was made of ten cents per hundred.

Mrs. Sarah J. Windrom

Mrs. Sarah J. Windrom of Chicago, cousin of Zachary Taylor, twelfth president of the United States, and grandniece of Alexander Hamilton, who signed the Declaration of Independence, says:

"Vinol is a Godsend to old people. I am 76 years old, but have a hearty appetite sleep soundly and feel active and well today, thanks to Vinol. When I was young cod liver oil was dispensed in a greasy, unpalatable form, and it fairly gagged me to get it down. Vinol is entirely different, very palatable and nourishing to impoverished blood. It is the finest tonic and strength creator I ever used in my life."

Vinol is a real cod liver preparation, from which the useless oil has been eliminated and tonic iron added.

Thanksgiving Donations.

Thanksgiving day is soon with us again. President Roosevelt in his thanksgiving proclamation has urged the citizens to give liberally of their bounty to those less fortunate than themselves. As in former years, the committee composed of Mrs. C. V. R. Gilmore, Rev. H. Geerlings, and Messrs. James Westveer and Henry Van der Ploeg, will receive donations for distribution. They have secured from the Citizens' telephone company the store just vacated by the Smith drug business, and shall be pleased to receive all donations there. In order that all goods received may be properly and judiciously divided, it is requested that all donations be brought to that store on River street, not later than Tuesday afternoon. It is impossible to arrange and distribute some four or five loads of miscellaneous goods to some fifty families, when everything is brought at the last moment on Wednesday. Every one of the donors is urged to help the committee in this respect by bringing goods not later than Tuesday. The committee will accept any kind of garment, underwear, clothing, overcoats, sweaters, jackets, childrens wear, shoes, over-shoes, rubbers, hats, caps, clothing old or new; foodstuffs of all kinds, meat, flour, bread, fruits, vegetables, in fact anything that may make the heart of the less fortunate brother glad. In this enumeration we should not forget money donations. These are especially welcome. The committee trusts that in this year of plenty there may be a spirit of giving that will exceed the offerings of any previous year.

Officers Elected.

At the annual congregational meeting of the Third Reformed church last Monday evening the following officers were elected: Elders, B. Riksen and M. Van Dyle; Deacons, John Du Mez, J. P. Huyser and N. Prakken. The financial statement for the year showed that the regular collections amounted to $1,041.53, and 481.95 was received in special collections. The total receipts for the year were 1,659.42, and the balance on hand over all disbursements is $26.99. The sum of $583.65 was collected for the benevolent fund and devoted to the various mission purposes, and the pastor's salary fund was more than covered by the generous contributions. $1,000 is the amount recommended by the consistory as an offering for Foreign Missions on Thanksgiving Day.

Terrible Tragedy At Harbor Investigated.

The terrible tragedy enacted upon the breakwater in the course of construction at Holland harbor Wednesday afternoon and Wednesday night of last week in which four men, Tom J. Bennett, Alvin H. Nelson, Martin Woodward and George La Chaine lost their lives has engrossed the attention of the people in this part of the state the past week.

The coroner's jury consisting of Hon. Luke Lugers, U. Devries, Dr. R. C. Devries, John H. Arendson, John Enoll and Capt. L. C. Thompson, after a thorough investigation, supplemented by a visit to the scene of the accident yesterday forenoon brought in the following verdict:

"That the said Martin J. Woodward, Alvin H. Nelson and Thomas J. Bennett came to their death during the night between November 21 and 22, 1906. That they were imprisoned on a certain breakwater now under construction by the contractors, Bennett & Schnorbach Co. located west of the so-called Holland harbor the west end of said breakwater is nearly 1500 feet from the east shore of Lake Michigan and about 200 feet from all other connections. We find from the evidence given that all attempts to effect a rescue were futile and of no avail; that further attempts at a rescue would have been fully justifiable. We further find from evidence given that said men were then and there beaten and lashed by wind and water during the terrific storm until overcome by exposure and water to find their death on said breakwater. We further find that the life saving crew were very much handicapped in their efforts and speedy action. That they were further handicapped by an inadequacy of equipment and more particularly by having surfboat anchored at a great distance from station, that we deem it very imprudent to make repairs or alterations to said station at such an inopportune time of season; and in our opinion it deserves a careful and stringent investigation by the proper authorities."

During the week the air has been surcharged with the feeling arising from the discussion of whether or not the keeper and the life saving crew did their duty. Numerous things were said, some true and some wide of the mark of truth but the testimony at the coroner's inquest is the truest story of the occurrence. The inquest was conducted by Coroner Dykstra in Attorney A. Van Duren's office and Mr. Van Duren assisted in bringing out the evidence.

Dr. J. J. Mersén, the first witness sworn, told about the efforts made to resuscitate the three men. Relative to reports circulated that there was warmth about Woodward's neck he said there was none and that there were no evidences of life in any of the bodies. Speaking of the injuries he said that he considered they were inflicted some time after the men had been exposed and that if there was no water in the lungs it was his impression that death was caused by exposure.

A. F. Everett, U. S. Inspector of the work being done on the harbor, said that he saw the men go to the breakwater. The gist of his testimony follows:

"We noticed that the current ran into the channel like a torrent and then I ran out to the beach and saw the men on the breakwater trying to get from the scow to the breakwater. They ran to the south end of the breakwater. One man was left in the scow and at one time it looked as if the scow was washed upon the breakwater, but it finally drifted off to the northwest and came ashore. I saw two men on top of the decking of the breakwater, one of them hanging to a pole. The lifesavers rowed out 700 feet to a point near the government shanties and were stalled there, making no further progress. They threw a line and we towed them out to the end of the south pier, but they could go no further. I helped take out the beach apparatus and a line was shot over, the line being carried to the outer end of the north old pier. We tried to get a tug, and failing I concluded that the men would knock loose a deck plank and try to reach shore on that, and we patrolled the beach expecting to find them. It was 2:30 when the crew went out in the lifeboat. I watched the wind and current after that in a general way, noting little change. One effort was made to shoot a line. It is my opinion that had the line reached them they could not have fastened it, and it is doubtful if the life savers could have taken the men off had they reached the breakwater in the surf-boat on account of the violence of the storm. The waves were washing over the south pier when we went out with the beach apparatus. The south pier was the most advantageous for the line. The men all went out voluntarily, being anxious to complete the work on the pier. They went out in the morning about 10 o'clock, but rain drove them back, the scow being left there, and after dinner they returned to the pier and resumed work."

Capt. C. D. Poole, keeper of the life-saving station, explained that repairs were being made to the station, a pile driver standing in front of the station.

"When notified of the predicament of the men on the pier we manned the surf-boat, anchored in the bay, and started out, the current being so strong that we could not reach the breakwater. We then got out the beach apparatus, and had great difficulty in getting it out to the end of the south pier. We shot one line, and when it fell short, three of us tried to pull it in while others went to the station after another line. We could not pull it back, and afterwards found that the line had parted. D. C. Wickham, assistant superintendent of construction of life saving stations, has charge of the repairs being made at the station. We have no control over the repairs, Mr. Wickham instructing us from time to time how he desires the work done. He gets his orders from the general superintendent of construction. We could have taken the lifeboat out the back door of the station, and with teams dragged it to the water. It would not have been practicable to use the lifeboat on this occasion, it being so heavy and resting higher out of the water would catch more wind. After dark I noticed a change in the current, or thought I did, but this would not have helped us as the current going out would have been met by the south current at the end of the piers and we would have been carried boat and all on top of the breakwater. Our shot lines are from 500 to 710 yards long."

Regarding the accusation that he and his crew were dilatory the next morning in going for the bodies, Capt. Poole said that his surf boat had been damaged and was full of water when he went to get it. "Mr. Schnorbach wanted us to go out, said the captain, 'and we hurried as fast as possible, pumping the water out and plugging up the holes with tallow. I would not say positively whether we had made any preparations to go out before Mr. Schnorbach mentioned it. We could not have gotten enough men in the surf boat to have rowed out to the breakwater."

Surfman Robert Smith, who with Surfmen Vos and Woldering, removed the bodies from the crib, said: "We made no examination of the bodies after finding them. They were all under water and lying face down. Woodward was fast between the timbers and we had trouble in getting him out. Two of the men, Nelson and Bennett, were in a pocket and we had to pry off a plank to get them. There was nothing taken from the pockets of any of the dead men while I was present, either while the bodies were on the Colby dock or in the pavilion. I saw a watch on Nelson's body, but I don't know where it disappeared to."

Contractor D. P. Schnorbach was deeply affected when he gave his testimony and several times gave way to emotion. He told about how he went down to the beach to help get Ed Bennett and how when he came back to the station he implored the men to do something more but was told that it was useless to try again.

"We talked and labored with ourselves from 3:30 until daylight," continued the witness, "and then we walked out to the end of the pier and thought we saw the men still on the breakwater, but we were mistaken. We then beseeched the lifesavers to go out and the captain said he would go as soon as he got ready." I said to Bob Smith, "for pity's sake, Bob, get a move on you." Bob said, "I'm ready to go, but I have to obey the captain." Then we proposed taking the life boat out and Mr. Nelson and I argued that the back door be cut out to let the boat out that way in view of the launchway being torn up, and we proposed to carry the lifeboat down to the beach. It was about 8:30 when the lifesavers finally went out in the surfboat."

Edward Bennett, the survivor of the pier tragedy, recited in detail the incidents transpiring while the men were trying to get away in the launch after the storm came; how he was left on the scow, and that after his brother had leaped from the scow to the pier, the brother turned to rejoin him but the scow was too far away.

William Shonniker, one of the men working on the piledriver, testified to assisting in dragging the surfboat out through the channel, and carrying the beach apparatus out. He said the sea was choppy, but there were no heavy rolls. "We did not get very wet working on the south pier with the beach apparatus," said the witness, "and I noticed that the current in the channel changed while we were working to shoot a line over. I heard Surfman Johnson say, 'we do not have to risk our lives to go out there."

Clarence Markham, ferry man for A. Tanner, who assisted the lifesavers, taking the place of Robert Smith in the surfboat that went out to get the imprisoned men, stated that there was more sea Thursday morning than Wednesday night, but at the latter time the current was heavier. So far as he was able to ascertain he believes the surfmen exerted themselves to the limit while rowing the surfboat.

Mr. Nelson, father of Alvin Nelson, a victim of the tragedy, said that he reached Macatawa Park at 3 o'clock Thursday morning. At 6 o'clock he had a conversation with the lifesavers and they told him they could not go out, the surfboat being full of water. He said: "Lifesaver Smith was the only one who seemed willing to go out, and when we talked of getting a volunteer crew to go to the rescue, Captain Poole said, 'do you think we're afraid?'"

"If the lifesavers did all they could," said the witness, "then the government is fearfully tardy in providing appliances. They threw one life line and in the summer they do not hesitate to shoot more for the edification of the summer resorters. And no life-saver started out to save Ed Bennett and he might have drowned had not Mr. Schnorbach went to his assistance. If the current was against the lifesavers in their efforts to row out to the men they should have tried again, as it is the experience of every man doing harbor work here that when a strong current is running into the lake it will not be 15 minutes before the current will be running out."

Capt. Poole was recalled and explained that after hearing the report credited to Johnson he interrogated him and Johnson had maintained that he had been misunderstood; that he had said he would not risk his life when it meant a most certain death to render assistance in a case where success was impossible. Regarding the contention that the current changed in the channel from time to time and was running out shortly after the lifesavers tried to get out the captain explained that had they succeeded in getting beyond the old piers the wind from the south would have caught them and made them absolutely helpless. Regarding the claim that the men might have been reached by going out on the north side of the pier the captain stated that the fearful current between the old pier and the new pier would have made it impossible.

Reporter Tinkham for the Grand Rapids Press corroborated the testimony of Mr. Schnorbach regarding the scenes at the station the night of the tragedy.

Gus Erickson corroborated the testimony of others regarding the statement by Surfman Johnson that he would not risk his life on another trip through the channel. Witness, from a position on the lake shore, heard the imprisoned men shout for help, and saw them waving their hands frantically.

N. J. Whelan testified that Albert Tanner telephoned to him from Macatawa Wednesday afternoon telling him that they needed men at the harbor as four men were marooned at the breakwater, and advised him to come down. In answer to Mr. Whelan's question as to whether more help was needed, Tanner said, "get all the men you can for they may need help to get the boat or the beach apparatus over to the north side."

Mr. Whelan testified that he first tried to get a special car to bring men down, but the wires were down and cars could not run. Then he tried to get men to drive down. He asked a large number, but only one man, Albert Hidding, was willing to take the drive through the storm. They reached the station at ten minutes to six and asked if they could be of any assistance. They were told no, as it was impossible to do anything against the heavy wind and sea.

"If," said Mr. Whelan, "the slide at the station had not been torn up the chances for a rescue would have been good when the attempt was first made. But so much time was consumed going to Macatawa Bay for the surfboat and rowing around the bend of the pier and out to the channel, and the wind had increased so rapidly that no headway could be made with the boat. The person who ordered the slide torn up at that time of year, is guilty of criminal negligence. But at the time that we reached the station men have not yet been born nor the life boat built that could go out against the wind. Contractor Schnorbach, Surman Johnson, and another member of the crew, Capt. Van Regenmorter, and several other men, were in the shanty. I said to them, 'We are here to do what we can and, will go out if you want to make another trial.' Mr. Hidding said, 'Where Nick goes, I go.' But it was beyond human power to do anything then, not so much on account of the current and sea, although they were bad enough, but because of the violent wind. The peculiar thing about the storm is that it came up as quickly as a squall instead of slowly as is generally the case of storms that last for hours and that is why the life-savers could not do better in their efforts to render assistance."

Terrible Tragedy Investigated

Mr. Whelan was asked that had he been in charge and his first shot had struck within six feet of the breakwater if he would have shot again. He said that if the first shot struck within six feet he would keep on firing as long as the cannon and powder held out.

Asked whether if he were in charge he would make more attempts at the rescue with the boat early in the afternoon before the storm had reached its height even if he knew those attempts were hopeless. Mr. Whelan said that to satisfy himself and the public that all possible had been done he might have made hopeless attempts but he said it might not be good judgment to do so as the wind might go down or shift a little later offering a favorable chance for a rescue and that then, on account of the hopeless attempts, the men would not be in condition to go out owing to the fact that they might have become exhausted or might have lost their lives in the attempts that right judgment would tell were hopeless.

He said also that this brought the matter around to the main trouble namely the condition of the slide. If the slide was in good condition, after the first attempt the men could have put their boat back in the house where it would be sound, and dry and ready for another trip. Then they could have made another trial with the boat after the shoreline failed. But as it was the surfboat had to be taken to the east end of the south pier and trailed off into Black Lake so that it would not be broken to pieces. It would take so much time and energy to get the boat abreast of the station again that the attempt would be handicapped almost to an impossibility. 'The idea is,' says Mr. Whelan that it was simply rotten business to take out that slide this time of year. Had it been in the four men would very likely be alive to-day."

OTHER INCIDENTS OF THE TRAGEDY.

Martin Woodard's father-in-law arrived here from Fennville with the information that when Woodard was home the week previous his wife had given him $300 to put in one of the banks in Holland. In inquiry made at the three banks showed that Woodard had deposited no money. It was reported that somebody must have taken the money from Woodard's clothes after he was brought ashore, but the possibilities are that the money had either been secreted somewhere by Woodard before he died or it had been washed from his pocket by the sea while he was on the crib. Much credence is not placed in the story that the money was stolen.

It was a pitiful scene that was enacted in the La Chaine home when Miss Ethel, the only daughter, who is living in Chicago, arrived home last Friday morning. She came home under the impression that her father was ill and took off her wraps and sat by the stove in order that the chill might be taken off her clothes before she entered his room to see him. Then she was told that her father was not there but that he would never return alive and her grief was pitiful. Mr. and Mrs. A. Deto of Montague, parents of Mrs. LaChaine, arrived from their home in Montague and stayed here until Monday, vainly hoping that the body of George would be recovered. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Deto also arrived from Chicago and stayed here until last night when they reluctantly returned home.

Lieutenant J. G. Ballinger, inspector of life saving station of this district, came here Monday to conduct an investigation. He has taken considerable of the testimony and expects to finish tonight. He will send the testimony to Washington, D. C., with his indorsement, and the officials there will pass judgment upon it.

The inquest brought out the fact that the clothing of Alvin H. Nelson, one of the drowned men, was partially filled with wooden chips, as though an attempt had been made to make a sort of life preserver.

The body of George La Chaine has not been recovered. The chances are that it was swept down the lake towards Grand Haven. It may never be found as the records show that a large percentage of the men drowned that distance from shore are never cast on the beach.

Common Council.

At Monday nights meeting of the common council a disposition was evinced on the part of the Aldermen not to grant to the Interurban Railway company the right to lay a track along Pine street declaring that it would damage the Third Reformed church property.

The council referred to the building inspectors the matter of billboards, the recent accident impressing upon the council the importance of having the boards constructed in a substantial manner so that the lives of pedestrians will not be in danger during heavy storms.

The committee on lighting was instructed to confer with the board of public works regarding the proposition of having the street are lights burn all night, it being argued that all night lights would be of great assistance to the police department as well as a great convenience to citizens.

The council ordered that the popular trees adjacent to the property of P. H. Wilms be cut down, the trees detracting from the appearance of the street.

Upon recommendation of the committee on fire department the election of Roy Kroll as a fireman to succeed P. Oosting was confirmed.

Tooth Troubles.

Cause—Prevention—Cure

A Tooth Talk Worth Remembering.

The food left on and between the teeth, decomposing, form an acid. The acid cuts the enamel and roughens it. Once roughened, the food can hardly be cleaned from the tooth and decay sets in rapidly.

Sweets, sour, hot and cold now hurt the tooth until the nerve dies. Even now, with the nerve dead, the trouble is not over. Take a slight cold your tooth aches, jaw gets sore, face swells, puss forms and finally works to the surface and a "gum boil" results.

To prevent all this suffering consult us frequently—at least twice a year—consultation and advice is free.

Let us talk the matter over; a little filling may save you much pain and annoyance. Perhaps some teeth may require treatment. Whatever you need we will help you, giving you the best possible service—the least possible pain.

The most sensitive teeth are easily treated by our method. An exposed nerve (that which all people dread most) is dried up or killed, without pain, in twenty-four hours.

It seems too good to be true, but we are doing just what we claim. Our patients place great reliance in us and we warrant their confidence. We always give good honest work. In every department of our profession we keep up-to-date, studying every appliance that is made to help us do good work, studying all the latest methods for lessening pain and saving teeth. Such faith have we in our work that we make this standing offer:

LONG SERMONS, AND LONG FACES

Early Thanksgivings Were Not Festive, But Solemn, Occasions—Modernized by Circumstances.

... So strong was the spirit of our ancestors that when the detested Gov. Andros issued his Thanksgiving proclamation they refused to eat turkey, just to spit him."

Notwithstanding a quite prevalent opinion to the contrary, for which certain historical writers are largely responsible, Thanksgiving is a day for family reunions, feasting and social enjoyment, is practically a modern institution, owing to its present importance in the main to the conveniences of travel that came with the introduction of the steam railway.

The holiday observance in the autumn of 1621 by the people of Plymouth, so often referred to as our earliest New England Thanksgiving, cannot be justly so characterized, because our early Thanksgiving in Massachusetts, for generations, were solely religious observances, while that famous Plymouth celebration of 1621 was a harvest festival, never designated as Thanksgiving by its promoters and having no religious significance whatever, so far as known. Moreover, it comprised not merely a single day of feasting and merrymaking, but a whole week of it, and was designed solely for relaxation after many months of privation and arduous toil.

There is no record of a similar joyous celebration in our annals for generations afterward, the Thanksgivings referred to in subsequent years until after the revolution having been nearly as strictly religious affairs as Sunday itself, and so far as we have any existing evidence not greatly given to gastronomy. No mention of Thanksgiving is found in a contemporary list of holidays for merrymaking as late as 1700.

Until as late as the war of 1812, or later, Thanksgiving was not a regular annual affair, either, its appointment being in recognition of special blessings, either spiritual or material, and usually deferred until such an excuse for its appointment offered, even though it might be for two or three years, as was frequently the case. It usually came in the autumn, however, and generally a bountiful harvest was mentioned as an incidental cause.

For more than 60 years after the arrival of the Pilgrims Thanksgiving was appointed by the legislature, and its respectful, religious observance was quite as obligatory as was obedience to any law of the commonwealth that carries with it a legal penalty.

Harvest Festivals of Old.

Man is so constituted that he is forever straining for blessings from afar while overlooking those at his feet. With our inordinate desire for material possessions, we are prone to forget the ethical and spiritual import of Thanksgiving. To call forth our gratitude we must have more and more things. We must be able to display an array of brilliant tangible objects. Moreover, we must have sumptuous repasts, rich wines and heavy silver to be in a position to offer up prayerful thanks to the Almighty Source "whence all blessings flow."

It seems we cannot be thankful for a little good despite the dictum that "man wants but little here below." We cannot show our gratitude unless it be for an "abundance"—hence man's petitioning the Higher Powers with prayers and sacrifices from the time of the patriarchs to our own day—for more and ever more goods of the earth.

The harvest coming after the care and toil of tilling the soil, the sowing of seed and anxious watching of the fields, has therefore been almost universally set apart as a time for special thanks, or Thanksgiving. However, so far as we know, no other nation carries out this custom regularly every year on a specially appointed day; hence Thanksgiving Day has come to be regarded as a distinctively American festival.

It is interesting to observe that while Thanksgiving Day as we know it, is a peculiarly American festival, harvest festivals were celebrated more than 5,000 years ago. For instance, the Jewish Sukkot (Festival of Booths) or Feast of the Tabernacles, was a harvest or "ingathering" festival held from the 15th to the 22nd of the tenth month, the first and eighth day reserved for holy convocation.

According to religious usage, the people left their houses and came forth to live in the booths or tents made of twigs, branches and brushwood, during the holy season of eight days. The interior of the booths were made festive with shrubs and foliage, and especially the leaves and fruit of the palm, the "goodly tree" of Palestine. (The Jewish people of the Orthodox faith in many places still observe this festival in its original form). Thanks and praise for the bounties of the previous year were offered in ritualistic formula and by the chanting of hymns; whilst merry games were played in which fruits and nuts, emblematic of the season, were always somewhere in evidence.

Among the Greeks we also find a harvest festival, the "Feast of Demeter," named after the Goddess of Corn or Grain, and of the harvest. Here there were also probably games and merry-making as well as religious ceremony. The Romans likewise commemorated a harvest called "Cerealia" after the Goddess of the Harvest "Ceres," represented in a familiar picture by a beautiful woman bearing a bundle of sheaves in her arms.

Thus we see that the same sentiment that impels an individual to the expression of gratitude for benefits received, also moves a nation to manifest in some reverent form its grateful recognition of special privilege or general welfare.

The ethical and spiritual significance of Thanksgiving, with all its feasting, its happy reunions and its merrymaking, will never be lost sight of, if we remember that this great "feast day" was born of "fast days." And that while some are feasting, others will still be fasting.

Thanksgiving Day will be animated by a finer spirit also when we think of it only in terms of materialism but in terms of patriotism and democracy, when we remember it as the day proclaimed by the first president on which to commemorate the birth of the nation, in the adoption of the constitution; and as the day fixed by Abraham Lincoln for prayer and thanksgiving after the nation had passed through a terrible crisis—the civil war.

All Can Be Thankful. In spite of the sorrows of life the young and old—all have something to be thankful for. Indeed, Jeremy Taylor held that "the privative blessings—the blessings of immunity, safeguard, liberty and integrity—which we enjoy, deserve the thanksgiving of a whole life." Each family knows what it should be thankful for at the present moment, and the spirit of the day will lead us to remember it, remembering it that we are made better morally and spiritually.

A PROSPECTOR'S THANKSGIVING

I'd been prospectin' for half a year
In the rockiest luck
A man ever struck,
An' my hope an' my temper was out o' gear.
An' I felt just ready to up an' buck,
An' to curse the day that I first saw light.
To curse the gold that was hid from sight.
To curse the fate that had led me on
By the lamp o' hope till all hope was gone,
An' my heart grew bitter an' full o' hate,
An' I railed at the Master who would create
A man to buck
At the game o' luck
An' only git ripped up the back by fate.

I knelt me down by a mountain stream;
From its sparklin' water I took a drink,
Then lolled on the rocky bank to dream
O' the tattered edges o' life, to think.
I recalled the days that had come an' gone
Since I tore myself from the world away,
An' the fact on my memory seemed to dawn
That I stared in the face o' Thanksgivin' Day.
A sneer rose up in my troubled breast,
An' my soul with its Maker renewed its war.
An' I asked myself with a spiteful zest:
"What have I got to be thankful for?
What has God done for a man like me?
What are the blessings thrown in my path?"

Why should I bow on a thankful knee
When He's sprinkled my trail with the fire o' wrath?
I struck my pick in the gravelly sod
As if to stab at the heart o' luck
An' sneered at the idea there was a God,
An' cursed such teachin' as wordy truck.
I glanced at my grub-bag layin' there
An' I knowed when I'd swallowed another meal
I'd have nothin' to live on but mountain air,
An' in mad rebellion I ground my heel

Deep down in the unproductive earth.
An' cursed at the gods' blow-grindin' mills,
An' cursed at the day that gave me birth,
An' the fates that led me into the hills.
Aye! cursed at everything I hurried—
At the cruel earth an' its strugglin' men,
An' wished that the old pain-givin' world
Would burst into nothingness an' then!

I rolled the sleeve up my bare brown arm
I noted the muscles clustered thick,
I felt the pulsations, strong an' warm,
As the life-blood flowed like a ripplin' creek.
I slapped my breast with my strong right hand
An' it stood as firm as a granite wall.
Save when it in majesty would expand
Till it stood out round as a monster ball.

I slapped a thigh that was knitted steel,
I threw back my head on its muscled base,
An' in my soul I began to feel
A childing that gave me a shame-red face.
What should I thank Him for? For health?
That a man of millions would envy me.
For a frame of iron, an' a perky wealth
Of muscle an' nerve, an' a spirit free
As the breezes kissin' my sun-tanned cheeks—
As free as the sunlight that warms the land.

As free as the eagle that soars an' seeks
The prey provided by Master's hand.
A new light entered my rebel soul.
An' I pressed the ground with my traitor knees,
An' a flood o' gratitude seemed to roll

From my glad lips up through the air-trees.
Then I lit the trail with the fire o' hope
Blown into a new an' holier blaze,
An' I trudged along up the rocky slope,
My heartstrings tremblin' with songs o' praise.

It must be a heaven that sent the luck;
For I hadn't gone more'n a mile, till there
In the breast of a rocky ridge I struck
A lead that'll make me a millionaire.
—James Barton Adams, in The Sunday Magazine.

Bayberries for Thanksgiving Candles. The revival of many an old time industry has brought into vogue the bayberry candle, beloved of our grandmothers, and here and there along country byways men and women may now be found garnering the aromatic berries, which some enterprising woman has engaged to make into candles, says the Providence Daily Journal.

It requires a quart of berries to make one candle. They should be kept in a dry place till ready to use, then put into a preserve kettle, allowing two quarts of water to one of berries. They should be boiled for four hours, filling up the kettle with hot water as it boils away. Then set it back where it will simmer a while and at night set away to cool. In the morning the wax will have formed in a large cake on top of the water, and after melting and straining through a piece of fine lawn or cheesecloth it is ready to pour into the candle molds. These candles give out a sweet, aromatic odor, which perfumes the room.

The True Thanksgiving. Not in the form of a hollow prayer,
Nor the weightless words thou hearest,
Not in the mirth round the festal fare
Is gratitude sincere.

But deep in the bosom an unvoiced song
Of praise for the joy of living,
For roses that blossom life's path along—
That is the true thanksgiving.
—John R. Greer.

Look Ahead. We can't all be in clover—
Reflect that better days will come;
Be thankful—the worst is over.

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS.
Fear E. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:
"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay in bed three months, went to bed at 8 o'clock, became very despondent and didn't care whether I lived or died. I imagined everybody who looked at me, guessed my secret. I imagined dreams at night, my head ached, my head, hands and feet were cold, in the morning, poor appetite, faints were shaky, eyes blurred, hair fell, memory poor, etc. Summers in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many physicians, were an electric belt for three months, went to St. Clements and before treatment, but received little benefit. While after treatment at St. Clements I was induced to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kergan, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I grasped the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. My improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through my nerves. I was cured mentally, physically and sexually. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

TESTIFIES GIRL WAS SLAIN
EVIDENCE DAMAGING TO GILLETTE IS GIVEN.
Physician Swears Grace Brown Met Death by Blows, Then Thrown Into Lake.

Herkimer, N. Y., Nov. 26.—District Attorney Ward Monday, for the first time since the trial of Chester E. Gillette began, called a witness to the stand who testified that Grace Brown was murdered. Dr. O. A. Douglas of Little Falls, one of the physicians who performed the autopsy on Grace Brown's body, occupied the witness chair for nearly three hours, and in the course of his testimony he swore that the body had many marks of violence, undoubtedly inflicted before the body entered the water.
Dr. Douglas suggested several blows that the girl received before her immersion in the lake. One of these blows, he said, loosened one of the girl's teeth and cut and swelled her lips; another blow ruptured the blood vessels of the cheek, and caused an exterior discoloration; and the most serious blow of all, which caused concussion of the brain and either killed the girl outright or so stunned her that she was unable to make an effort to save herself after she fell in the water.
The condition of the girl's eyes, nose, mouth, lungs, bronchial tubes, etc., was carefully gone over in a rigid cross-examination by Former Senator Mills, Gillette's senior counsel. Dr. Douglas said during this questioning that there were many symptoms about Grace Brown's body which, in ordinary cases, would be suggestive of drowning, but when he had finished his testimony, he still clung to the declaration that Grace Brown died from blows received before immersion. He said Gillette's tennis racket was sufficiently heavy to cause the injuries he found.

RESUME MAIL INVESTIGATION.
Magazine Publishers Have a Hearing Before Commission in Washington.

Washington, Nov. 26.—The congressional commission charged with an investigation of second-class mail matter resumed its sessions in Washington Monday after a recess of six weeks. The commission is looking into the question of the annual postal deficit and seeking to ascertain what proportion of this deficit may be rightfully charged against newspapers and periodicals. At a hearing in New York in October the newspaper publishers were heard and such a strong case was made out in defense of their position that the publishers of magazines asked time to prepare their side of the case. One of the strong points made by the newspaper publishers was that the average newspaper haul in the country is only 150 miles, while magazines are hauled at the same rate of postage for an average distance of 800 miles.
Chairman Overstreet of the house committee on post offices said that in his judgment the newspaper rate of postage would probably not be changed through the recommendation of the commission, but the rate on certain classes of periodicals may be increased. The remedy of the Post office department, as set forth by Assistant Postmaster General Madden, is for a flat rate of four cents a pound on all second-class matter without discrimination, instead of one cent as at present.

Sight of Coffin Kills Man.
Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 26.—Overcome at the sight of the coffin in which was the body of his friend and neighbor, Louis Wetzel, who was shot while hunting, James McKenna, 70 years old, a veteran of the civil war, dropped dead at his home as the undertaker's wagon bearing Wetzel's body passed in the street. McKenna was seated near the window when a daughter called his attention to the undertaker's wagon. He arose and leaned out to see the coffin carried in the house where Wetzel had lived. Suddenly he dropped on a chair, exclaimed that he felt ill, and before his daughter could render assistance plunged forward, dead of heart failure.

1,500 Immigrants in Panic.
New York, Nov. 26.—For four days 1,500 immigrant passengers on the Italian steamer Florida, which arrived Monday from Genoa and Naples, were kept below decks while the steamer pitched and rolled in a gale which at times assumed almost the proportions of a hurricane. None of the passengers suffered serious injury. Capt. Noera had a narrow escape from being hurled into the sea while the storm was at its height.

CONDUCTOR CAPTURES DARING BOY BANDIT
MISSOURI OUTLAW FOILED IN ATTEMPT TO ROB PASSENGERS ON ALTON.

MAKES BIG HAUL BUT LOOT IS RECOVERED
Identified as Man Who Held Up Rock Island in Same Vicinity Recently—Berates Travelers for Their Cowardice.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 26.—Statting that a previous train robbery on the Rock Island was committed by his brother, although he himself is identified as the one who committed the robbery, the boy bandit who held up a train on the Chicago & Alton early Monday says his name is Truehart, and that he is a Californian.
Truehart secured $2,000 in money, besides several watches, all of which were recovered and returned to the passengers.
The engineer of the train identified the robber as the same man who held up the Rock Island train near Glasgow, on November 7.
The hold-up was one of the most daring in the history of the south-west. Between Slater and Armstrong, Mo., a distance of 21 miles, the bandit, single-handed, robbed 20 passengers in three cars of the fast east-bound combination Chicago & Alton-Chicago, Burlington & Quincy passenger train.

Overpowered by Conductor.
The man finally was overpowered by E. B. Heywood, the train conductor, who knocked a raised revolver from the robber's hand and forced him to the car floor. The robber was bound, forced to surrender his plunder, and four hours later was placed in jail.
As the train started from Slater Truehart boarded the smoking car. Leveling a revolver at two passengers, he ordered them to pass over their money and valuables.
When the robber had systematically robbed the passengers in the smoker he stood at the door, keeping the passengers covered with his revolver until the train reached Glasgow. At Glasgow he swung off and boarded the chair car as it rushed by a moment later. After robbing the passengers in this car he began to rob those in one of the sleepers.

When Conductor Heywood appeared the robber commanded him to throw up his hands. Instead of complying, the conductor, quick as a flash, knocked the revolver from the robber's hand, threw himself upon the man and bore him to the floor. The two struggled fiercely while the passengers were instantly in a panic. A dozen passengers came to the conductor's aid and the robber was bound.

When the train arrived at Armstrong, a town marshal took Truehart into custody. He refused to talk, except to berate the passengers for cowardice and to declare that Heywood was the only nifty man on the train. Truehart was taken to Glasgow and placed in jail. He told the police that it was his brother who robbed the Rock Island train out of Slater on November 7 and escaped.

Robbery Most Daring.
A passenger on the robbed east-bound Alton-Burlington train, who returned to Kansas City Monday from Glasgow, Mo., said:
"The robber was one of the nerviest imaginable. He only weakened when Conductor Heywood and a number of passengers literally jumped upon him after the conductor had plinned him to the floor. Then the robber, as the passengers kicked and struck at him, cried: 'Oh, my mother,' and gave in."
The robber covered the trainmen and colored porter in the chair car and made them aid him rob the passengers. Conductor Heywood got the uppermost when the robber, while operating in the sleeper, stopped momentarily to put away securely some of the booty he had just secured. Heywood, although 60 years old, grappled with the man, wrested his revolver from him, and then as the robber dashed down the car aisle, fired a shot at him. He snapped the revolver a second time, but it did not fire. Then it was that Conductor Heywood literally bore the man to the floor, and the passengers jumped upon him.

PEARY LANDS AT SYDNEY
ARCTIC EXPLORER ARRIVES IN PORT AND MEETS WIFE.

Gives Steamer Roosevelt Credit for Expedition's Farthest North Record.

Sydney, C. B., Nov. 24.—Flying the flag of the United States, which had been placed nearer the north pole than any other national standard, and weather-beaten and disabled, the Peary arctic steamer Roosevelt arrived here Friday under sail and steam after 16 months' vain effort to reach the pole. Though not entirely successful, the expedition nevertheless got to 87 degrees 6 minutes north latitude.

The Roosevelt left Port-aux-Basques, Newfoundland, at three o'clock Thursday afternoon, and averaged five miles an hour to Sydney, experiencing light wind and rains. The ship came to an anchor off the yacht squadron pier. Though the hour was early, the Roosevelt was soon visited by the American consul and various local officials and an invitation was extended Commander Peary on behalf of the Sydney board of trade to be the guest of the commercial body at a banquet in his honor at night. A large quantity of mail awaited Commander Peary. He came ashore almost immediately after the steamer anchored and joined Mrs. Peary, who has been here for two weeks waiting for her husband's return.

After reading the letters accumulated during the past fortnight, Commander Peary decided to leave to-day by rail for New York.
Commander Peary is enthusiastic about the performance of the steamer Roosevelt. Asked if the very advanced point to which he had been able to place the Roosevelt in winter quarters was due to careful and increased knowledge of the movements of the ice he said it was due to the Roosevelt herself. He did not believe there was ever another ship afloat could have stood the battle with the ice the Roosevelt had successfully fought. The boilers were the one defective feature of the ship. More than half the power of the ship was represented by water tube boilers and these gave out shortly after the Roosevelt left Sydney in 1905.

MANY HURT IN CAR SMASH-UP.
Woman Killed When Freight Hits Trolley Car in Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 26.—One woman was killed and 16 other persons were injured when an electric freight car crashed into the rear end of a suburban electric car near Birmingham, 18 miles from this city, on the Pontiac division of the Detroit United Railway. The passenger car was a theater car, bound out to Pontiac from Detroit, and was well filled.

It had stopped at the foot of a steep grade in front of the power house, when, without warning, the freight car, also outbound and which had been following the theater car from Detroit, appeared over the crest of the grade and dropped down the 300-foot incline at terrific speed. It struck the passenger car with such force that it telescoped the car for two-thirds of its length. The woman killed was Miss Harriette Harger, daughter of Charles Harger of Pontiac.

SCHMITZ DENIES CHARGES.
Mayor of San Francisco Lands and Isn't Arrested.

New York, Nov. 24.—Mayor Schmitz of San Francisco, who arrived here Friday on the steamship Patricia, said there was absolutely no truth in the charges made against him and that he will go to San Francisco and court the fullest inquiry. When the Patricia arrived at quarantine, Mr. Schmitz was shown newspapers containing reports of the charges against him in San Francisco. He said:
"There is not a scintilla of truth in the charges. The fact is, it is an attack made against me by my political enemies because I made a strong fight against District Attorney Langdon, who was defeated for governor. His friends are now taking their revenge."
No attempt was made to arrest Mr. Schmitz when he came ashore from the steamer. An automobile was waiting for him and he entered it and left the dock at once, presumably to go to his hotel.

HOTEL MAN SLAIN
IN KANSAS CITY

J. FRANK EMERY IS MURDERED BY WOULD-BE ROBBERS.

Police Pursue and Capture the Hold-up Men, Wounding the One Who Did the Shooting.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 26.—In an attempt to hold up and rob J. Frank Emery, proprietor of the Kentucky House, a second rate hotel at 90 North Sixth street, in Kansas City, Kan., Sunday evening, Emery was shot and killed and Lee Simons, a negro porter, was shot in the shoulder and slightly wounded.
Charles Rumble, aged 32, an ex-molder from Independence, Mo., one of the would-be robbers, was shot in the cheek by officers, who pursued him and Sam Hutton, a negro, down Minnesota avenue, the principal street in the city. Rumble's wound is not serious. Both Rumble and Hutton were arrested. Hutton's home is in Kansas City, Kan.

Robbers Were Intoxicated.
Rumble and Hutton were intoxicated. They entered the Kentucky House and walking over to the desk told Emery to hand over his money. No guests were in the lobby at the time. Emery told them to get out, that he had no money. The men staggered from the desk, apparently to take their departure. When they reached the door, however, Rumble braced himself against the negro and with a shaky hand fired two shots at the hotel proprietor.

Guests rushed into the lobby and found Emery dead lying across the hotel register. One bullet from Rumble's revolver went wild. The second had pierced Emery's chest just below the heart, causing almost instant death.

A guest poked his head out of the door of his room 20 feet down the corridor from the office. Quick as a flash Rumble fired two shots in his direction. The guest retreated to his room.

Colored Porter Shot.
Rumble and Hutton fled down the rear stairway. There they encountered Simon, the porter, who had been attracted by the shots and was just ascending the steps. Rumble fired a shot at Simon that struck the porter in the shoulder and the two robbers pushed by him and booted for the street. The police station is situated immediately across the street from the hotel, and officers were on the scene in a minute or two after the first shot rang out. Rumble and Hutton were seen by the officers on Minnesota avenue a block from the hotel and gave chase, firing as they ran. One bullet struck Rumble a glancing blow on the cheek and caused the molder, because of his drunken condition, to stagger and fall. Hutton stopped running when he realized that Rumble had been shot and the pair were soon landed in jail.

Rumble appears to have forced the negro Hutton to join him in the attempted hold-up. After the two men were arrested, a woman who saw them enter the hotel door and ascend to the office, which is situated on the second floor, told the police she overheard Rumble say to Hutton: "It's money we want. If you don't stay with me I'll kill you."

Rumble and the negro had been seen about the city in each other's company during the day, drinking.

BONI'S FRIEND MAY AVENGE.

"Count de Cubase" Will Call on New York Insult.
New York, Nov. 26.—M. Martin, proprietor of the Cafe Martin, has received the following cablegram from Paris:
"My friend, Count de Cubase, will call upon you to demand reparation with arms for your insult."
"CASTELLANE."

The message refers to Mr. Martin's recent cablegram to Count Boni de Castellane, offering the divorced husband of Anna Gould $10,000 a year to act as head waiter, now that his income is cut off. Mr. Martin says he is not sure whether some one is trying to scare him with a joke or Count Boni is really challenging him to a duel.

"I never heard of Count de Cubase," said Mr. Martin, "but if he wishes to see me for any reason I shall receive him. It is possible that somebody in Paris sent this cable as a joke."

Fight Manager Arrested.
Cincinnati, Nov. 26.—On a charge of embezzling "Billy" Nolan, manager of "Battling" Nelson, has been arrested here. The arrest came as a sensational finish to the dispute over the proceeds from the exhibition of the pictures of the Gans-Nelson fight. Nolan, it is claimed, withheld about $7,000 from the California treasurer of the films, pending a decision as to the proper division of the money, and he was therefore arrested on the embezzlement charge.

The coal situation is likely to become as serious here this winter as it was two years ago—not because there is not coal to get, but because the local dealers can not get it, owing to the great shortage in freight cars. None of the railway companies handling coal can promise immediately shipment and the supply on hand here is present is rather limited in hard coal lines. It is hoped before severe weather comes, the hard coal situation can be relieved.—Allegan Press.

The Grand Haven high school team had no game last Saturday and all energy is being bent toward the great contest with Holland high school on Thanksgiving day. The Grand Havenites would rather defeat Holland than almost any other team as the rivalry, while entirely good natured, is very keen. The two schools have always been rivals in athletic contests and the teams are usually very evenly matched.—G. H. Tribune.

Abner Kelly of Hamilton paid a fine and costs amounting to about $50 in Justice Frank Dalton's court for leveling a gun at his neighbor, John Barkel, who operates a meat market there. The deed of Barkel's property gives him the right for a driveway, but Kelly denied him that privilege by building a fence, which so enraged his neighbor that Kelly threatened his life. Kelly was arrested and the jury found him guilty. He was placed under a bond of $100 for three months to keep the peace.

At quarterly conference held in the Methodist church Thursday night there were added to the board of stewards, Hans Dykhuis, George Nichols and George Farnsworth. A. W. Lutz was released upon furnishing bail to the amount of $200. It is alleged that Lutz came to this country from Germany and arrived in Grand Haven in May in company with Deborah Orback, who wished to come to Robinson where she had friends. It was claimed that the man had run away and left his wife and three children alone in Germany. Deborah is about 15 years of age. Lutz denies any criminal relations whatever with the girl and claims his wife knew that he was coming to this country and that he would bring the girl with him. He denies that he deserted his wife and his relations were perfectly proper. Lutz was very indignant when confronted with the charge and stoutly protested his innocence.

The tug Gunderson Bros. of Grand Haven started out for Holland Monday to attempt to release the Bennett & Schnorbeck scow off the beach. This scow was the one which carried Ed Bennett ashore last Wednesday night from the crib and saved his life. The scow is a big one with a derrick and will require the services of a tug to haul it from the shore. The Gunderson was obliged to turn back on account of the heavy southwest gale which sprang up and kicked up a nasty sea. The fishing fleet which started out as usual in the morning was also forced back into port for shelter.

The sheriff will make a complete investigation of the affair and if the theft is proved to be a fact the officers will make all attempts possible to fix the blame where it belongs.

For a time apprehension was felt by the relatives and friends of Jacob Flieman that some accident had befallen him in the north woods near Dryburg, where he is hunting, but T. A. Smith who returned a few days ago says that Mr. Flieman is all right, but that it was hard for him to communicate with relatives here on account of the poor mail service at Dryburg and the fact that the party remained at the camp in the woods most of the time.

Judge Padgham adjourned circuit court Monday and closed the Nov. term. Several cases went over until the next term of court and aside from the disposal of the hide cases, nothing was done at the final session of the court. The hide cases, which have been stirring up Grand Haven since early in the fall, came to an end Monday afternoon when Len Duinkert and John Verhoeks appeared for sentence. Both pleaded guilty to petty larceny and had waited for sentence for several weeks. Verhoeks was fined $30 with an alternative of 30 days in jail. He paid the fine. Len Duinkert received the same dose but will remain with Sheriff Woodbury for a month as a matter of choice.

Notes of Sport.

The Grand Rapids Herald has the following about the Hope College basketball team:

The Athletic association of Hope college has placed a basketball team into the field which will prove well nigh invincible in the coming contests with the leading teams of the state and other colleges. Under the management of A. J. Van Houten the team is considered to be the best ever organized and one which will give its competitors a run for their money. The team was recently re-organized and is considered to be much superior to the one of two years ago, which scored such signal victories with the best teams in the state, and winning the championship by taking eight of nine contests played.

Peter H. Pleune, of Grand Rapids, a member of the sophomore class; Henry Vruwink of Grand Rapids, of the freshman class; Herman F. Veenker, of Clara City, Minn., also a freshman; George De Kruij of this city, of the "B" class, and Harvey Oltmans, a son of the Rev. and Mrs. Albert Oltmans of Japan, are the ones picked to do the running and judging from their recent game with Grand Rapids, will make an invincible record.

Great interest centers in the coming contest with the strong Crescent Five of Evanston, Ill., scheduled for a game at home on December 12. The Crescents have made an excellent showing during the season of 1905 and in former years were among the most prominent contenders in the A. A. U. championships.

This aggregation will make a tour covering 8,000 miles, from Toronto, Canada, to Honolulu, Hawaii, and are negotiating for a series of five games with the Diamond Head Athletic association on the outdoor courts of the island. The Hope five captured its scalp two years ago and will go after them with both feet in the best game of the series.

The team is planning a schedule for games with the M. A. C., Olivet, Grand Rapids, Jackson and Battle Creek. Dates have been booked with the Grand Rapids Y. M. C. A. on December 21, with Grand Haven on December 27, and with Muskegon on January 3. Arrangements are being perfected for a game in Grand Rapids on Thanksgiving Day.

Manager Van Houten has the utmost confidence in his team and rival teams will have to wrestle hard for a victory. It is possible that a couple of games from home will be played the first of March on the occasion of the state oratorical contest to be held in Hastings.

The Holland Interurbans defeated the Grand Rapids high school in a very exciting game of indoor baseball at Jensen Park pavilion Friday night by a score of 10 to 5. It was a neck to neck race until the seventh inning, when the locals cinched the game.

The features of the game were the effective twirling of Petersen, not one of the visitors being offered a walk. The batting of Catcher Schouten and Third Baseman Kelly of the Interurbans was brilliant. Taylor's superb work behind the bat and Hodgman's home run on the part of the visitors were meritorious. The game was full of brilliant playing and the crowd was very enthusiastic.

To-morrow evening the Interurbans and Pulchers of Grand Rapids will be the opposing teams in a game at the pavilion.

Score by innings:
Interurbans.....14000032*-10
High School.....111010001-5
Batteries—Petersen and Schouten; La-moreaux and Taylor.
